3,674 miles done and over 16,000 miles to go

A stranger was in Leonard last week. David Lindmark noticed him on the street when he was going in for his morning coffee at the cafe. He asked him where he had come from and where he was going on his bicycle. He thought that he should stop at the Leader-Record office in Gonvick to tell them his story.

Yann Lecanu flew from Paris, France to Montreal, Canada and then started his bike trip on May 11. He has hit large cities from Montreal, Québec, Boston, New York, Washington DC, Chicago, Minneapolis and Mall of America through Wisconsin and to Walker, Bemidji, Leonard, Clearbrook, Gonvick and then to Gully on his 20,000 mile trip that he has planned. This was 3,674 miles of this trip. He has been riding about 50 miles a day. His last stop before Gully was Bemidji where he spent an extra couple of days with Bill Batchelder.

As soon as Yann entered the print shop in Gonvick he recognized the smell of ink as his grandfather had published a newspaper in France. Dick Richards is shown at the oldest machine that he has in the shop. He also took Yann on a tour of the wild rice fields north of Gully after eating at Shorty's in Gully.

Yann camping on the north end of Shorty's in Gully after getting permission from owner Jeff Pletschett. He also enjoyed the wings that they served.

His camping spots have been different in many areas. On the left a state forest near Pillager. On the right, camping on the football field in Walker.

He was taken to various places including the source of the Mississippi River.

His favorite part so far has been the Kentucky hills. They were beautiful. He has met so many great people in the time that he has spent so far as everyday there are changes and his routine is not the same.

Yann started out as a salesman for an electrical company and found out that was not what he wanted to do. For the past 13 years he has been a video director and photographer. What beautiful scenery to take pictures of so far on this bike trip.

This is not his first trip as in 2018 and 2019 he left France for a backpacking trip that ended up in Laos. He has also hiked up to the Lofoten Islands in Norway. He wants to try something instead of not trying.

For this trip he bought a Surly/Troll 2022 bike that he built. He calls it Ernesto. He has a few spare parts with him on this trip. He carries 50 pounds of weight on his bike that includes a one person tent and other gear. It has three water bottles attached. He has had to adapt his eating habits. He has more small meals each day. He did eat smores for the first time.

From Gully, Yann was to go to Thief River Falls. He was having a package delivered from Amazon to General Delivery. From there he was on his way to Winnipeg. He had to go back into Canada as his Visa was for 90 days and he had to renew it to make it the rest of the way. From there he was to take the Trans-Canada Highway all the way west to Banff, Canada. Then he was headed south on the Pacific Trail down to California and then east to Austin, Texas which will be the end of his United States part.

Yann will enter Mexico and travel on the east side down to Panama and then to South America on the west side down to Argentina. He plans to head home in about two years.

Three days in Bemidji with Bill Batchelder in front of the Woolen Mills Store.

From Montreal to the tip of Argentina and then home again to France.

Yann getting ready to leave Gonvick after his tour of the Leader-Record and Richards Publishing Company. He needed to get in his 50 miles for the day.

Yann went on a tour with Dan, who is in charge of marketing for Quality Bicycle Products, (QBP)/Surly bike headquarters in Bloomington, Minnesota.

Surley, Ernesto, before being put together. The seat is much more comfortable than it looks, Yann stated.

Five New Council People Sworn In Red Lake Inauguration Held at Seven Clans

Photos and Story
By Michael Meurers

At 9:00 a.m., Tuesday, August 9, 2022, Red Lake Tribal members and friends of the Nation gathered for an inauguration held at Seven Clans Casino and Event Center, Red Lake.

Two months earlier in mid-June, members witnessed the swearing in of re-elected Secretary Samuel R. Strong and newly elected Tribal Treasurer Vernelle L. Lussier. Each had won their respective seats in the first round election back in May, receiving more than 50% of the ballots cast and winning the election outright.

Hereditary Chief James Loud would swear-in most of the winners of the run-off election held July 20, 2022.

Scores gathered filling nearly every chair on the floor. Red Lakers, friends, and allies sat at round tables tightly spaced - save an aisle down the middle - for the entrance of the Red Lake Color guard. Among the crowd were several honored guests (candidates and office holders) representing State, County, and Bemidji City governments. Curiously, 80% were Indigenous or of Indigenous descent.

On stage stood emcee Gary "Rez Dawg" Jourdain, Jr., who welcomed Spiritual Leader and Hereditary Chief Greeting Spears who offered an invocation. Jourdain soon called on the celebrated Drum Eyabay for a song as members of Red Lake Veterans Post 6889 marched in dance-step, colors flying, later to post them and Eagle Staff on stage.

Red Lake Tribal Council members were seated facing the crowd behind tables directly at the front of the stage. Council members and Hereditary Chiefs mixed with each other to the right and left of center stage.

A bit after 9:00 a.m., Chairman Seki called the meeting of the Red Lake Tribal Council to order from the floor. Secretary Samuel Strong, seated to Seki's left, took the roll. A quorum present, Chairman Seki explained the morning's agenda.

Seki asked for a motion to accept the certified results of the recent election. On a motion and second, the motion passed unanimously. The swearing in would soon follow. Seki then recessed the Council meeting to reconvene in the same venue after the swearing-in and dinner.

Hereditary Chief Dan King swore in of newly elected Red Lake District Representative Robert L. May. Chief Loud swore in newly elected Redby District Representative Harold L. Graves, Jr. and newly elected Ponemah District Representative Eugene Standingcloud. Newly Elected Little Rock Representative Harlow S. Spears was sworn in by Little Rock Representative Michelle Barrett Cobenais, and Re-elected Chairman Darrell G. Seki, Sr. was sworn in by Chief Loud.

Re-elected Red Lake Tribal Treasurer Samuel R. Strong and Newly Elected Tribal Treasurer Vernelle R. Lussier were acknowledged for their earlier election wins. Tribal Council members leaving the council were recognized and given blankets as a symbol of appreciation for their service. They included Adrian Beaulieu of Little Rock, Donald Good of Red Lake, Julius Thunder of Redby, and Gary Nelson of Ponemah.

Former members, new members all gave short thank you speeches. Officers, Lussier, Strong and Seki also gave short speeches.

Secretary Strong, who often works with and is concerned about youth, hopes to bring their voice to the table. "There are many things to be grateful for, our lake, our culture, our way of life. We have these strengths. We need to keep our culture and language alive. We can use these strengths to solve these challenges."

Seki would also speak to the audience. He spoke first, as is his custom, in his first language, Ojibwemowin before switching to his second language English, to present the majority of the speech.

Seki's speech centered on healing the Nation, but also included past, current and future Council initiatives. He encouraged the Nation to work toward healing after a challenging year with losses of loved ones, storms, and the pandemic. "Today, we are still battling the drug abuse. Now is the time to end this destruction, Seki said." He vowed to empower law enforcement and to hold dealers accountable.

Closing his speech, Seki "Most importantly remember why we are elected and work together to move forward," he said. "The healing starts now."

Mentor Farmers Market to host Jordon Gunufson on Saturday, August 20, 2022

Jordon's story: Spearing has always been a passion of mine since I was a little boy. The winter of 2006 is when I really gained a lot of interest in dark house spearing because that was the year, I was able to attend the annual family spearing trip up north. The second day fishing I harvested a 25 lb. 43.5 inch Northern Pike. I was hooked! Now, with that being said about 5 years ago Wayne had mentioned to me that one of these days he was going to sell his business. I said back to him "well maybe you should sell it to me?" To make a long story short last October we were able to make a successful transition. Fish's blue blade ice saw is well known around the world, and I intend to keep the tradition going for years to come! Find your blue ice saw @ Icesaw.com

SCAM ALERT

The Polk County Sheriff's Office would like to inform everyone of a scam that is circulating through the area. The caller identifies themselves as a grandson/son or granddaughter/daughter saying that they were involved in an accident and are going to jail or going to the hospital and need money. We have seen this scam in the past; however, it has become popular with bad guys again.

We appreciate everyone who calls to notify the sheriff's office of suspected scams. The more we can spread the word, the less likely these would-be scammers will get away with anything. These bad guys want to swindle you out of your money. Report scams to your local law enforcement. Protect yourself and others.

Speak LIFE

Rosie & Charlie "Baby C" 2.0

We are twenty-three. Twenty-three weeks old! Ah! Don't do that! I thought you were sleeping. Surprise! I was pretending. That's sneaky. Yep. That's me. Sneaky. Brothers are sneaky. Tell me about it. I just did. What's the update this week? Our eyebrows and lashes have grown in but our irises don't have color yet. Uh, that's kind of boring. Okay, well we're going to double our weight in the next four weeks. We are? Uh-huh. That means we need to eat. Yep. Yay! Snacks, snacks and more snacks. Hurry, tell them how big we are. We're as big as mangoes. Awesome! Let's eat. -a.m.opdahl www.speaklife139.com

A Needy Bunch We Are and He Knows It

“We don’t have to make a list of needs cause He knows what we need before we even ask. We just have to pray the ‘Our Father’ like He taught us to,” said the man on the radio.

The man’s words seemed worthy of consideration as he expounded on the format we’ve been given by suggesting that when it’s used, it is enough.

Thus, I began with no list in hand.

“Our Father, Who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name.” The praise begins. Acknowledgement that He is on the throne while we are not is rather reassuring. Reaching towards the heavenly, to worlds not yet known, lifts the mind as unto the Lord. What a beautiful way to start the day. Thus, I continued.

“Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven.” Inviting Him to take the lead makes way for His way. Like a fan in the stands the view is always much more clear than that of the referee out on the floor. And like the fan in the stands, God has a bird’s eye view—panoramic, if you will—of what the big picture looks like. He sees. When we say, “Thy will be done,” we proclaim He knows better and we are willing to trust—just for today—until we pray the words again tomorrow and the next and the next—not only trusting, but knowing He has our best interest in mind.

“Give us this day our daily bread...” We acknowledge what we have, be it lots or little, is all from Him. He will provide and whatever the provision, we trust Him to give what is needed even if it looks differently compared to what’s on the world stage. After all, “what good does it do to gain the whole world and lose your very soul?” (Mark 8:36).

“and forgive us for our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us.” Before things even happen, we are forgiving offenses cause one thing for sure—things happen. As ill-equipped people who are not on the throne, we will need to be forgiven and we will need to forgive those who trespass against us. It’s a sure bet someone will offend. If not, you can be certain we will perceive it as though they did at some point along life’s way.

This forgiveness thing is an on-going big wad of cud that continually regurgitates itself in many a form—and as nasty as it gets, it must be dealt with. We can do one of two things with it. We can cooperate with forgiveness—or not. If not, it’s going to be an even stickier mess to swallow so one might as well allow Him to work in us that which only He can do. Goodness knows He is able and we are not.

“And lead us not into temptation but deliver us from evil.” I sorta like to lump these two together just like He did because evil is all over temptation. Evil tries to take us right on out of the race. The bigger the threat the enemy is to us, the bigger the threat we are to him and what he’s trying to swipe out this side of the veil. Thus—it helps to remember we are fighting principalities—not people.

“For Thine is the kingdom, the power, and the glory both now and forever.” These final words added reinforce that it is indeed all about Him, it has always been all about Him, and it will always be all about Him.

What a simple way to pray throughout the day. Amen.

Ask a Trooper

by Sgt. Jesse Grabow Minnesota State Patrol

Question: I really enjoy seeing these on Facebook and I am hoping you can shed some light on bike laws. I work and live around Glendalough State Park where there are quite a few walking/biking paths. I have seen and been verbally accosted by those whom do not seem to “see” the stop and yield signs on such paths. Riders have blown through them and not given the right of way to the vehicle already in motion. Can you please explain the bike path signs to those who may not understand? Thank you for your time and continued service to our communities.

Answer: Thank you for the question. Sharing the road is always an important topic.

Does a bicyclist have to obey the same traffic laws as a motorist? Yes, Minnesota Statute 169.222 states: “Every person operating a bicycle shall have all of the rights and duties applicable to the driver of any other vehicle by this chapter, except in respect to those provisions in this chapter relating expressly to bicycles and in respect to those provisions of this chapter which by their nature cannot reasonably be applied to bicycles.” This includes stop signs, stop lights, yield signs, etc.

Does a bicyclist have to dismount and walk their bike through a crosswalk? No, a bicyclist using a crosswalk does not have to dismount to cross the intersection, but in some cases this may be the safest option.

A person lawfully operating a bicycle on a sidewalk, across a roadway or shoulder while using a crosswalk, has all of the rights and duties applicable to a pedestrian under the same circumstances. That includes not entering a crosswalk if a vehicle is approaching and it is impossible for the vehicle to stop.

A portion of state statutes were used with permission from the Office of the Revisor of Statutes. If you have any questions concerning traffic related laws or issues in Minnesota, send your questions to Trp. Jesse Grabow – Minnesota State Patrol at 1000 Highway 10 West, Detroit Lakes, MN 56501-2205. (You can follow him on Twitter @MSPPIO_NW or reach him at, jesse.grabow@state.mn.us).

Law enforcement veterans bring over 45 years of combined experience to the college

August 12, 2022 — Northland Community & Technical College welcomes two Criminal Justice alumni to campus this fall as new instructors. David Lovly, will serve as the program's director, and Randy Sondrol as an instructor. Both Lovly and Sondrol graduated from Northland's Criminal Justice program under the instruction of James Jesme, who retired in the spring of 2022 after 20 years of service to the college.

Lovly is a Goodridge, MN native who obtained his A.A.S. in Criminal Justice from Northland and his B.S. from the University of Minnesota Crookston. He previously served with the Pennington and Red Lake County Sheriff's Offices and was a member of the Pine to Prairie Drug Task Force. He had the privilege to work with Northland students as a use of force instructor under former program director Jesme.

Lovly has worked alongside skilled officers and investigators in homicide investigations and drug-related and violent crimes. He is committed to sharing the knowledge he has learned throughout his career as it applies both to job-based performance and the mental health trials officers face in the profession.

“This is a pivotal time within the law enforcement community in which adaption to the world we live in needs to take place,” shared Lovly. “Respect must be implemented, but yet, we need to equip our new officers with the ability to be confident and feel safe once they leave our college.”

Adding his over 30 years of experience to the program is Randy Sondrol from Erskine, MN. Like Lovly, Sondrol also received his A.A.S. degree in Criminal Justice from Northland. He worked for the Polk County Sheriff's Office as a Patrol Deputy, Investigator, Narcotics Officer, SWAT Officer, and Sergeant before retiring from the Department this fall. Northland is like home to Sondrol as he has been an adjunct instructor in the Department for over 12 years.

“During my 32 years of service, I realized I had the most satisfaction training Northland students and new officers in the department and watching them succeed and advance in their careers,” stated Sondrol.

Both Lovly and Sondrol share the desire to build upon Northland's well-established program and want to advance it with the changing times and hope that this can help put the profession in a positive light.

“In the big picture, I want to help turn around some negative views toward law enforcement,” Sondrol explained. “That will hopefully spark the interest of young people in the community to join the program and enter a Criminal Justice career.”

David Lovly

Lovly expanded upon Sondrol's sentiments, “We must maintain the highest standards for our criminal justice students to provide the best for our communities. No matter what challenges we face, we must overcome our mistakes and do what is best for those around us and ourselves. As educators, we must strive to ensure that each and every one of our students is consistent, respectful, and resilient as they enter this great profession.”

If you are considering a career in criminal justice, Northland is still accepting students in the program for this fall semester. Interested students should visit www.northland-college.edu/start and complete the online inquiry form. Or, to schedule an advising appointment, please contact Northland Admissions at (800) 959-6282, enrollment@northlandcollege.edu, or text at (218) 496-3158.
