Vol. 46 Number 18

A look at next week ... A Goodridge couple says three local young men were their guardian angels!

Vivian Coan (Ojibwe): Three-sport athlete in Northwestern Minnesota makes others better

Written by Dan Ninham (Oneida), October 22, 2019 – ndnsports.com, reprinted with permission

Vivian Coan attends Goodridge-Grygla High School in the farming region of Goodridge, Minnesota. Goodridge is 20 miles east of Thief River Falls in the northwestern part of the state. It is also 20 miles southwest of its cooperative school in Grygla. The combined town populations are about 400.

Vivian Coan is a three-sport junior athlete for the Chargers as a middle hitter in volleyball, a post in basketball and a shot putter and discus thrower in track. She is the current school shot put record holder.

"My tribe is the Red Lake Nation," said Vivian. "My paternal birth family is from the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe and my maternal birth family from the Red Lake Nation. I was adopted at 5 years old, with my younger brother by Roger and Roxann Coan. My mom is a descendant of the White Earth Nation."

"I am confident, always trying to get myself and others better, and I lead by example," said Vivian. "Athletics taught me responsibility and how to work with other people. It has also taught me a good work ethic and how to balance sports and academics."

"Family is not only my immediate family and it includes everyone in my life," said Vivian. "The community and school that I have grown up in played a part in who I am today. They have been very supportive to my brother and I. The community provides support and encouragement. The teachers, staff and administration provide a good education and teach us many life lessons. They treat us like family and they are my 'Home away from Home.' My coaches and teammates play a very important part of my life and I consider them family. My coaches push me to be the best I can be. Without the bond I have with my teammates, we wouldn't have a team. We have struggled through a few tough seasons, we don't do it alone and we don't give up. Our basketball team has a motto 'Family.'

"My life journey has not been typical," said Vivian. "I'm the oldest child of both of my birth parents. My first two years were spent back and forth between birth family. Family services removed me from those homes. The following two years I spent in foster care with several other foster children. My brother was placed in the same foster home in July 2007. When I was 4 ½ (September 2007) my brother and I met our parents for the first time, they made the decision to adopt us. In October 2007 my brother and I spent our first night in our forever home. In December 2009 our adoption was finalized.

Living with my family has changed me in many ways. I always think of how things could've been or where I would be if things didn't happen like they did. I realize that you shouldn't base your actions off of your past but base them off the decisions you can make at this time. There is no one more responsible for your future than yourself. Make the best of the life you are given."

"Following my High School graduation I'm going to continue my education at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls, MN working towards a degree in business," said Vivian. "I plan to play volleyball and basketball for the Pioneers."

Roger and Roxann Coan said: "We were blessed with Vivian as daughter. We are thankful for her positive attitude, respectfulness and willingness to always help when needed. She is not only respectful to us but also to her brother, teammates, friends, family and community members."

"Viv is determined and mentally and physically tough," said Roxann. "When she sets her mind to something she is going to do it. Since the time Vivian was in 7th grade she has been very committed to the weight room both during the school year and summer. From the start we have told Viv if this is something you want to do that's on you to start your day. Vivian sets her alarm and gets up on her own to be there by 6:30 every morning along with her brother. The Weight Room Advisor is also Vivian's Head Basketball Coach Elroy. He pushes her to be a better person both on the court and her academics. He knows her potential and holds her accountable for that. Vivian knows what is needed to be a stronger, faster and better player. That determination off the court also follows her on with her teammates. She has played through some tough seasons where they were building as a team. It challenged her mentally. On the court she is a vocal leader and encouraging to all players especially the younger players."

"On Friday, September 20th of this year Vivian had a sudden seizure at school during lunch and didn't have any prior symptoms. She was taken by ambulance to our local hospital," said Roxann. "Once arriving at the hospital several teammates and friends joined her. Many tests were performed, and they were unable to find a cause. That evening teammates practiced with the thought they would be without Viv for at least the following week. After practice teammates and parents stayed with Vivian at our home. They did this, so we could attend our son Jordan's football game. Jordan was the first to get help from administration and was very shook up after the incident. He too has Viv's determination and wanted to play in the football game that evening. Viv was heavy on his mind as the two of them share a close bond. She followed up with a pediatrician the following Monday and was referred to a neurologist who she will be seeing in November. Viv questioned the doctor 'Can I play Volleyball?' The Doctor gave her the clearance and she went to practice that afternoon. To date Vivian has had no further complications."

Vivian has shown a positive influence on the three athletic programs she has been involved in at Goodridge-Grygla High School. "I started coaching varsity volleyball three years ago and the last two years I have really seen Vivian grow in her leadership skills," said Katelyn Tharaldson, Goodridge-Grygla head volleyball coach. "Her teammates look up to her on and off the court. Vivian shows up to the weight room and everything extra we have whether it be team suppers, summer activities or any time help is needed with preparation to game days or practice. When she is "up" or excited it motivates everyone else. Her presence and her personality bring the team up and help bring the team together as a whole. I've really enjoyed having her as a player, and she is always willing to learn or help teach younger players at our spring camps. She brings a lot to the Charger Team and community and I am very proud of her and what she has accomplished so far."

A student athlete's work ethic is being observed and they may not even be aware of it. "I have worked with Vivian in sports and taught her in the classroom, and she is definitely one of a kind," said Tomas Loberg, Athletic Director at Goodridge Public School. "Vivian is everything that our school hopes to foster in a student athlete; she is hardworking, friendly, outgoing, and smart. Her positive attitude and tremendous work ethic have made her stand out in our school and athletic programs. She continues to be a leader both on and off the court and track."

"Vivian has been a leader on the court since she has started playing basketball," said Elroy Johnsrud, Goodridge-Grygla head girls' basketball coach. "She has qualities to be a good leader and she leads the right way. She doesn't bring any of her teammates down but tries to build them up. I have really seen her step up in the classroom this year also. She is keeping up her grades and not misbehaving during class. Vivian makes my job easier by being a coachable and dedicated athlete. She goes to weight room almost every day, and is consistently on the court trying to improve her game. She cares about the game and her teammates."

Vivian is the current school shot put record holder. She is preparing for the spring track and field season by competing in fall and winter athletics. She continues to work with younger athletes to keep the cycle of high performance moving forward. "She is a very dedicated athlete and puts in the extra time in the weight room," said Jason Grandstrand, Goodridge-Grygla HS track and field head coach. "She takes the younger athletes under her wing and works with them on their form in throwing and also in the weight room."

Vivian Coan is striving toward greatness as a Charger three-sport athlete by being a role model on and off the court and field.

Youth hunt successful for Lians

Area youth participated in a special deer season that ran from Thursday, October 17th to Sunday, October 20th. The Lian family bagged a couple of bucks that weekend. ## Fabian calls for disaster declaration after flooding Representative Dan Fabian, R-Roseau, and other House Republicans sent a letter to Governor Walz recently requesting an executive order declaring a flood emergency to deal with the extensive flooding causing financial and logistical challenges for Minnesota farmers. The letter also requested the administration's help in working with the federal government to seek a Secretarial disaster designation through the United States Department of Agriculture, and a Presidential disaster declaration. North Dakota Governor Doug Bergum signed a similar executive order earlier last week. "Minnesota farmers are struggling, and we need to do all we can to help them," said Fabian. "This fall's flooding caused by excessive rainfall has created huge problems for almost everyone in Northwest Minnesota. I am hoping that these disaster declarations will help to ease financial burdens on individuals and local governments." An executive order, paired with the federal declarations, would give farmers access to financial assistance as well as assist with emergency road repairs.

Stay Safe All Year Long On Your Farm Or Ranch

Agriculture is one of the most dangerous occupations in the United States. Here are several safety tips:

- Farm tractors have one seat. This means one operator and no riders on fenders, hitches or in front-end loader buckets.
- Be sure all PTO shields and other safety shields are in good repair and properly secured on all farm equipment.
- All farm tractors and any attached or trailing farm equipment must display an orange "Slow Moving Vehicle" emblem.

GRYGLA LIBRARY LINK

Written by Kari Sundberg, Grygla Librarian

Last week, I mentioned something in my column about libraries going fine-free. Were you paying attention to those two words? Because it's a pretty big deal! Especially if we jump on board with the idea, like other libraries around the state/nation are doing. Nothing has been decided yet, however, at our October meeting, our NWRL Director presented the idea to us.

If you are curious about other libraries that have done this, you can find numerous articles online. Specifically an interesting article about the Chicago library, which is the largest public library system in the United States that has now went fine-free and wiped away people's outstanding debt.

It's a trend many libraries are getting on board with and NWRL could possibly be one of them.

The common question is: How much money will we be losing if we do this? The answer for NWRL is roughly $6,000 annually. It's not a HUGE number, considering, but it's a lot of money, no doubt; money we'll be losing. But I like what our Director, Jim, followed it up with. He said in regards to that dollar amount, we don't want to be gaining revenue off of other people's misfortunes. I.E. Overdue books and fines.

Currently, we don't fine juvenile library accounts. If the materials are not brought back, they will get billed for them, of course, but any late fees are automatically taken off as soon as the juvenile brings back the materials.

For adults, we currently have $2.00/item for late fees. If you have a few books out, along with a few DVD's, audiobooks, etc., that bill can get pretty high in a short amount of time.

If we decide to change our policy regarding this, I suppose it's normal to wonder if people will even bother bringing their books back. Well...yes....they'll have to bring them back or our system will automatically bill them the full cost of the materials, which there is still a time limit to how long a patron can have items checked out. They just wouldn't have the late fees attached to their account;

there is a big difference in being billed or being fined.

At our next meeting, we plan to discuss the topic further and I'll be curious to hear what we decide to implement or not. Obviously, this is a policy-level decision and the board has a lot of questions - respectively so. But it's interesting to me as a librarian and I'm looking forward to hearing where we'll go with it.

Doing something like this can really help people, especially low-income people, regain access to their library systems that have blocked them from borrowing materials because they have hit the threshold in fees. The overall idea suggests that eliminating overdue fees will increase overall book return rates and overall circulation rates - which means more books in the hands of more people.

Patrons would still receive their regular emails with due date reminders and such. For any unreturned materials in the given amount of time, items would then be marked as lost and accounts would be charged replacement fees.

So that's a little bit about that. I thought you'd be interested in hearing about this new idea, which I'll definitely keep you posted about.

I like one thing I read that says: there is no evidence fines get you better behavior - they just get you fewer users.

I can agree with that. I was also going to discuss my winter book club ideas with you, but in all honesty, I still have that item on my to-do list and need to do a little more research on how we'll go about it this winter at our little library in Grygla. Watch for more info. I can say, however, that I am picking out some fun prizes this year that I'm excited about. The few of you who participate in Book Blizzard (formerly Hot Reads for Cold Nights) will love the giveaways this year - I promise.

...and that’s a wrap for Charger’s Football

“Playoffs are a different dynamic and a lack of varsity experience showed early on,” said John Wilebski, Head Coach for the GG Charger’s Football team. He’s referencing the game that was held in East Grand Forks last week on Tuesday, October 22nd, when the Chargers had a rematch with Stephen/Argyle Storm. The game put an end to the Charger’s Football season with a final score of 35-0.

Wilebski went on to say, “The Storm came out with something to prove and jumped out early on with a couple of big TD runs by Dawson Feuillerat with 51 and 55 yards in the first quarter. I felt our inexperience in these type of games showed some lack of mental discipline, which caused things to snowball, letting the game get away from us.”

“On a positive, we had a good season coming back from all the adversity losing key players in the lineup throughout the season. Our coaching staff is so proud of our 2019 Charger football team and their effort this year. With that, hopefully we learn from these types of games and experiencing these growing pains we can compete at the next level in the 2020 football campaign. Thank you to Goodridge and Grygla Schools, parents and fans for all the support this year,” Wilebski concluded.

LUNCH WITH SENIORS

The Grygla High School Seniors want to make a bigger impact on the underclassmen in their school. Each Friday as a group, they have lunch with different grades and will continue this throughout the school year. Last Friday, the 4th graders got their turn. During that time, they sang “Happy Birthday” to their classmate, Emma, and discussed favorite places to eat, favorite subjects in school, and recess sports and games! Photo courtesy of Grygla School
